

537

Re: Is someone posting on Facebook pretending to be Allie Overstreet and Mark Supanich?M

Sent: Sat 2/25/2013 12:17 AM

From: Brenda Williamson <brendawilliamson@gmail.com>
To: William Windsor

Subject: Re: Is someone posting on Facebook pretending to be Allie Overstreet and Mark Supanich?

I just don't understand people. I live hours away from her and i work so much i rarely get to talk to anyone so i really don't get it. Why me? I try to keep to myself. I'm no threat to anyone. I am not an active activist. Maybe they thought i wouldn't find out or something. Oh well. My Facebook is gone now so that takes care of that.

On Feb 22, 2013 9:26 PM, "William Windsor" <nobodies@att.net> wrote:
 Thanks, Brenda. I understand. Stone cold silence from Allie and Mark. I would normally hear from them within minutes of an email, message, or phone call.

From: Brenda Williamson <brendawilliamson@gmail.com>
To: Nobodies@att.net
Sent: Fri, February 22, 2013 9:53:36 PM
Subject: Re: Is someone posting on Facebook pretending to be Allie Overstreet and Mark Supanich?

I'm off of Facebook. Have deleted my account. I cannot let this craziness touch noah. I will keep in contact through this email address. I don't know how you do it. Our story is credible with tons of evidence to back it up but people hacking my account can be used to discredit us and like i told you, my focus has to be solely on saving my family and hopefully by doing that, i can help be a part of saving America. :)

On Feb 22, 2013 6:05 PM, "William M. Windsor" <WilliamWindsor@bellsouth.net> wrote.