I am trying to keep this from DFS since it was a suicide attempt. I am terrified they will take him again. I'd like to keep the drama part of this away from him as much as possible. He may be released this week. He is at children's mercy downtown but PLEASE don't post that info. I do not want any crazies going after him.

Allie continues to post stuff saying I am lying about all of this. I was convinced she was doing all of this, and since it is impossible to believe that someone has maintained control of her Facebook page for 24 hours, I think I know for sure.

May I ask what hospital Noah is in? When was he admitted?

Would Noah like to get a call from me? I'd love to tell him how much I care about him and formally ask him to be on the radio show. I appreciate that you told me on the phone today that he had mentioned this!

People would like to send him cards and flowers. May I advise them where he is, or do you want that to be secret?

Thanks,

Bill

I just don't understand people. I live hours away from her and i work so much i rarely get to talk to anyone so i really don't get it. Why me? I try to keep to myself. I'm no threat to anyone. I am not an active activist. Maybe they thought i wouldn't find out or something. Oh well. My facebook is gone now so that takes care of that.

Thanks, Brenda. I understand. Stone cold silence from Allie and Mark. I would normally hear from them within minutes of an email, message, or phone call.
