Then provide the proof that Allie Overstreet has a legal commitment on Sunday that takes precedence over the deposition, and provide the court, judge, and case number of your alleged hearing on Monday. I made this polite request of her, and she failed to respond.

I don't make threats. How dare you! I will bring this to the Court's attention.

Bill,

An answer is our entry. That is how it is done. You went over the number of requests. And, my assistant has not and does not lie. Do not use e-mail to levy threats against me. I will bring this to the Court's attention. We are representing a client and doing so within the rules. And, we will not be conducting a deposition on a Sunday.

Finally, please refrain from using my email for anything other than sending pleadings. Communication such as this does not aid in either of our efforts to resolve the case.

Very Truly Yours,

THE O'CONNOR LAW FIRM, P.C.

Filing false pleadings; filing without an Entry of Appearance; failure to respond to requests to discuss discovery issues; having your assistant lie about reasons to try to avoid the deposition scheduled; and seeking a protective order without discussing any issues with me when all I have done is respond to what has been filed by you folks, attempt to obtain discovery, attempt to avoid having my case dismissed, and attempting to play by the strange rules that nothing apparently gets considered without setting a hearing.

I would be filing very little if it were not for the BS that you folks have filed.

If you want to play nice, then you will find that I can be as nice as can be. But your client is a criminal who is as guilty as anyone can be in this matter, and you have a duty to determine that she is lying her ass off, and when you file things in support of her lies, I consider you to be an accomplice.

See you on Sunday at the deposition.
